

Dawn on the last day

Mark Peterson

I. Dawn on the last day

One last sunrise

Ages and eras

Soon behind a curtain

New sunshine waits to

Hear the thunder

Flaming to light at

The voice of its creator, now

Here is the judge of all in splendour

He comes to banish death and darkness

His name is Jesus Christ, the Lord God

His outstretched arm will strike his enemies

In perfect power

2. Mourning with tears that flow in sadness

Here is the one they pierced

And sought to silence

He is the Lord of Life the Maker

Gladness and praise from

Those who know their Saviour, now

Here is the judge of all in splendour

He comes to banish death and darkness

His name is Jesus Christ, the Lord God

In perfect power.
